

Ana VeigaMilton and her husband of 26 years, Cecil Milton, are longtime supporters of our Zoo Miami. Ana served as Chair of the Ball of the Wild for 2004 and 2005 and on the Feast with the Beast Host Committee for many years. She has served on the Zoo Miami Foundation Board for over 9 years and currently chairs the Board.

Professionally, Ana holds engineering and law degrees from the University of Miami. She worked for BellSouth as an engineer upon graduation, and after earning her law degree, did some pro bono work before becoming a full-time mom and dedicating herself to community service.

She served a term on the Miami-Dade Community Relations Board and was deeply involved with their children's school. In addition to her dedication to the Zoo Miami Foundation, Ana is active in the community, serving on the Tocqueville Society, Women's Leadership, and Impact Council for Financial Stability of United Way, the UM Citizens Board (Officer), the Jackson Health Foundation, The Tiffany Circle of the Red Cross, and the Miracle Society of Big Brothers Big Sisters. She also continues to serve as Treasurer of their Homeowners' Association. She was honored as a Miracle Maker in 2011 and by the Chapman Partnership in 2012 for her service to the community.

She currently serves as President of the José Milton Foundation, dedicated to supporting programs and organizations in South Florida that improve quality of living, with a special focus on education, research, and access to healthcare. Through the Foundation and her personal work, Ana promotes corporate and social responsibility within the family business, United Property Management, one of the largest real estate owners and property managers in Miami-Dade County, with a portfolio of over 8000 residential units and commercial real estate. Cecil serves as President of United Property Management and their eldest, Alec, is fully integrated in operations. Cecil and Ana are blessed with three wonderful children, Alec, Eric and Diana, all young adults who are wild about Zoo Miami. The Miltons have resided in Coral Gables since 1998 and consider themselves native South Floridians.
