

Sandy Batchelor is a life-long advocate for wildlife having earned an undergraduate degree in wildlife conservation from the University of Arizona and a master's degree in forest resources and conservation from the University of Florida. Sandy is also a lawyer holding J.D. from St. Thomas University and a masters of law in estate tax planning from the University of Miami. She is the chair and co-CEO of The Batchelor Foundation Inc., one of South Florida's most respected charitable foundations, headquartered in Miami Beach. The foundation has over the years been a long term supporter of Zoo Miami, as it has been of many of South Florida's cultural institutions.